

The technological race is financed by hi-tech companies such as Amazon, Apple, Samsung, Sony etc., which unscrupulously feed the market with computers, bio-computers and devices, all useless stuff producing imbecility, good for mass control and statistics, responsible for the polluting extraction of minerals used in the fabrication of circuits; the very circuits that at a later stage and in an absurd consumerist cycle will be dismantled with bare hands and the help of acids in China, Ghana, Vietnam and India; even by children whose little hands are particularly fit for the purposes. Is it worth having smart-phones, tablets, Iphones and other weird devices?

Thanks to various international trade treaties and the support of banks, the IMF, the WTO and the like, multinationals move their tentacles to control the global market. Some examples: intensive food production and one-crop plantations (Monsanto, Nestlé, Bayer, Novartis, genetically modified seeds); the pharmaceutical industry and the production and testing of medicines, psychotropic drugs and vaccines (on humans and animals); the meat industry which causes mass extermination and the spreading of viral diseases, consumes tons of water, thousands of hectares of forest and soil for the production of animal feed destined to fatten segregated animals; a third of those cereals would be enough to feed half of the human population, but it must be clear that the transformation of animals into 'products' is due to consumer demand.

Now we can discuss if anti-technology resistance is paranoid. But I think that some will share what I believe in and which made me end up in jail, and will decide autonomously how to act. Of course, in the face of these forces one could give in to cowardice, cunning and ignorance of the facts, and pretend nothing is wrong, wait for a divine sign, take refuge in one of the few uncontaminated places and live like hermits. But human nature possesses an animal instinct of conservation and defence of their habitat and the elements that give Life.

War Against The Machines!

By Gianluca Iacovacci

The inertia of modern society and resistance to the techno-industrial dominion.

Modern culture, which doesn't mean intelligence, wants us to judge those who practise radical anti-civilization criticism and to consider them paranoid psychopaths. In modern technological society, which is complex, articulated in a plurality of religions and political stances and boasts of being tolerant, people don't realize they are immersed in a sort of pig-pen (with due respect to real pigs), and are fed the same meals provided by the same companies, kill for money and other trivialities and are kept 'together' only by coercion, the law and the power that enforces it, with all the horrors this implies: this is already a form of violence.

Hoads of citizens are being happily bombarded with the one-channel information of the State TV, which has led them – willingly or unwillingly – onto the economic carousel of the crisis, the Gross Domestic Product and the production of work-and-consume.

Western civilization falls in the tragic and at the same time ridiculous paradox of humanitarian aid, usually dispensed in money, to populations in trouble for not having enough food, dying when giving birth and worse of all 'not knowing how to live'. The most known example is Africa, which I call the primordial cradle. There people would be well ahead of us in matters of 'knowing how to live' if it wasn't for wars and diseases brought about by Europe and the United States, and for conflicts due to oil extraction and mining by international corporations and by tribal/religious rivalries exasperated during the colonization era by the same multinationals, such as ENI, which later turned into humanitarian rescuers and bearers of civilization.

Multinationals and demonstration of force by the States.

Contexts of struggle and conflict thousands of kilometres distant from Italy are often looked for and rightly analysed, so as to open empty discussions on methods of action to be adopted 'at home'. This is not a judgement, as I don't want to make any; it's only a little digression of anger towards certain milieus which have been recently acting as shielded and tough to suppress the enemies, such as comrades who have been massively hit and arrested during prosecuting/ suppressing, anti-anarchist and anti-insurrectionary "operations".

Comrades who never bent from the tortures and the isolation of the special wings inside prisons, not even from the wounds of the attacks.

I am proud for having a strong integrity of Spirit and for crossing these rough paths that are ahead of us, on the side of the non-submissive and the no-law ANARCHISTS.

Eternal conspirators, dreamers, smiths of courage, who face titanic and TYRANNICAL forces and the existence of a life that has not been written yet. With elemental and limited means, which posses a tenacious determination though.

To conclude, I would like to encourage all by conveying to you a metaphor of what I feel: I see the State and the order as a lonely civilized Human lost in the Woods, under the complete dominion of wild animals. Realizing the coming of a storm in the night, the Human is no longer afraid of becoming the meal for wild animals, but fears the coming of the storm instead.

From the valleys to the mountains, from the countryside to the Forests, for the Liberation of the planet and the living beings. Because the earth deserves more than dirty money!

DEATH TO CIVILIZATION!

LONG LIVE ANARCHY!

Gianluca Iacovacci

Anarchist prisoner

C.R. San Michele, January 14, 2014

Latest update:

As of April 26th 2016, Gianluca Iacovacci, who had been under house arrest since June 16th 2015, is at last free without any restrictions.

that in Italy there are hundreds and throughout the world ten thousands.

It is ridiculous, though, and banal at least, to argue about the actions, it will be as if you are destroying the real optics on conflict and Resistance and recognizing the democratic logic that “the game ended badly” or the good against the bad ones.

Now these judges are still having fun with the trophies of their hunting, against life and death of others, while the planet is dying and the human is ebbing.

But everything has a beginning and an end, just like their organs and their bones, the law and the order will collapse and there will be nothing left but ashes and ruins.

The society is already a sentence of darned values, with enforced efforts to stay together and at the same time they are being used to annihilate individualities that are hostile against them.

For centuries, in the name of God and Power, the authority imposes civilization, order and indoctrination. It transforms Human into a work-producing machine, a laboratory animal for science. Those few, who maintain the inherent wildness and an antagonist thought, it crashes them with violence and terror, it lock them up in galleys or sanitariums to “adapt” them until it gets complete control over them. Otherwise, it will act to annihilate them.

The foundations of Civilization are being quaked by the blows of their own failure. Fewer and fewer spaces remain livable and immaculate, the wars are expanding with all the consequences and they get more real, threatening the population with technological weapons the field of the losers.

These violent and unjustifiable capabilities of the authority and tyranny of the civilized human are becoming more feasible, as long as the society is technologically “advanced”.

The Resistance against the Technological-Industrial Machine lives only through the path of liberation from every power and order, runs towards an event horizon where nothing has been written yet. And the new wild and informal resistance, that gives answers and takes the initiative against the governments’ violence, which are always more ‘environmentalists’ and finding out that what they supported not long ago only produces rubbish and toxicity.

In this respect, we see how cities and metropolises are big supermarkets where companies and industries incessantly pour their products, which range from blenders to countless cars; and what is left are big cemeteries of pollution.

Environmental disasters, often irreversible, occur on a daily basis with spillages of waste, industrial and human discharges, including the nuclear and oil ones, which are ‘punished’ by simply inflicting fines in money, as if this could repair the havoc done to the earth and the water.

Then there is always the possibility to cover up everything, as happened with the nuclear and industrial waste in Campania and not only, waste that continues to kill mainly children; and the State silenced all this to an off guard public opinion.

Industrial and commercial groups such as ENI, ENEL, FINMECCANICA, EDISON and BENETTON – and the list is endless – are growing exponentially in terms of geographical and political expansion. They plunder water and mineral resources, pollute the air and the earth for their profit; and with their ‘projects’ (extraction works, dams, electricity plants...) boosted by new bio-tech research, they expropriate uncontaminated lands from indigenous populations, divert watercourses and deforest ancient woods with the collaboration of armies and landowners, like the white ‘conquistadores’ in the sixteenth century; not to mention all the economic activities in which these multinationals are expanding. I wouldn’t be surprised if one day we found the image of that bad dog with six paws [the ENEL logo] on milk and water bottles.

Coming back to what I was saying about the struggle at the beginning, an example in our country is the militarization of the Susa Valley following the TAV project and the exacerbation of repressive laws specifically devised to crash down resistance of all kinds.

It is well known (to the usual few) how coal and nuclear plants, toxic industries, electrosmog, incinerators and landfills, cementification, military sites and concentration camps (migration detention centres/prisons) are just some of the fronts of struggle active on the territory, in different forms of course.

International corporations raise their flags all over the world like in a ruthless war game, in order to establish their imperialistic dominion and colonize neutral lands or lands destabilized by wars financed by the corporations themselves, or lands subjected to NATO 'liberation'; if these circumstances were not available, there would be some 'natural' catastrophe allowing businesses to intervene in pseudohumanitarian aid... until they take out the best weapon of Capital, i.e. checking accounts.

Thanks to various international trade treaties and the support of banks, the IMF, the WTO and the like, multinationals move their tentacles to control the global market. Some examples: intensive food production and one-crop plantations (Monsanto, Nestlé, Bayer, Novartis, genetically modified seeds); the pharmaceutical industry and the production and testing of medicines, psychotropic drugs and vaccines (on humans and animals); the meat industry which causes mass extermination and the spreading of viral diseases, consumes tons of water, thousands of hectares of forest and soil for the production of animal feed destined to fatten segregated animals; a third of those cereals would be enough to feed half of the human population, but it must be clear that the transformation of animals into 'products' is due to consumer demand.

Exploitation produces money; intensive fishing causes the extinction of marine species; hunting for fun and urbanization kill many other animal species. Recently the big companies responsible for the poisoning of the earth are conquering the ridiculous market of the 'Green Economy' (a colonial expression), and are presenting themselves as new 'green' companies that use alternative sources of energy, but the only alternative way is a different way of production and consumption. They experiment with nanotechnology for the sake of the environment, but obviously their goal is not to clean the water and the air from their poisons; it's still business and profit but a greener one... an acid green.

I am part of this very annoying and paranoid witch-hunt, which is called judicial system, where even a slogan painted on a wall is listed in the catalogues of political police as "an act of terrorism, targeting to put the subversive plan of FAI into practice..." through different incidents with my comrade and brother Adriano, to whom I cannot find any other way to express my affection and solidarity than my decisiveness, which was already returned to me with his courage and the strength of his soul.

It would be better for them to leave these little games aside. I would be out of many "informal" troubles, if they could see that informality is my reality, but I am not alone (as far as this case is concerned) in the hands of the enemy.

These actions they refer to, which are not part of some kind of "program", were made by me and I have claimed responsibility for them with a communique under the name International Revolutionary Front-Informal Anarchist Federation/Subversive Anti-Civilization Individualities and they know very well, that they were executed by only one individual, which is me, as an answer to the ideal of profit, the pillaging of the earth and the planet, on which I live and as an act of solidarity with the rebels, who are in conflict with the existent.

The GPS and other wiles that the military kindly planted in a car that I had been using for the last two years would link me in a very indicative way, or even more, with other direct actions and sabotages. In some cases, you start thinking of those lovely bicycles, but there is a need to understand that we are fighting against a system that will possibly implant satellite transmitters directly into people's heads.

While these harriers were staying in the warmth of their "marital homes", I noticed how they built the files with the material that was seized and how the mission of the political police was transformed into paginating, or even copying in detail through the pages, several actions against energy/ industrial units, including one imaginary stealing from an ATM that was burnt.

As to not downgrade my integrity, my courage and my sacrifice, I will not bow to notions "guilty-innocent". It would really be too much.

It is of no importance whether there are 30 or 100 actions, but the fact individualities even if I have to renounce this very pen and ink with which I write my angry words.

I always support indigenous resistance of the anti-authoritarians and the locals, who stand against the trials of the power of the State and the multinational companies, putting active resistance, sabotage and direct action into practice.

I support all the comrades, who want to free themselves from authority and who decisively take part in the international anti-capitalist and anti-imperialist Struggle. Looking past good and evil or right and wrong, which are notions more fitted for nuns and priests, the point of view of mine and other individualities is urged by the instincts themselves, by the possibilities of the means with the continent repercussions of this risk.

I have always put Human Liberation from any boss and any prison, mental or physical and Animal Liberation from the structures of torment and death and from any other place, where a living being is converted into a commodity, an object or entertainment, in the same perspective.

I am an anarchist, I do not belong in this era of an automatized no-life, fit for use and consumption by the governments. I do not acknowledge any state, court or any other institution or authority or the legal, military, political and religious systems. As far as the judges and the judiciary with the Inquisition's robe are concerned, they are nothing more than bureaucrats trying to prove, why it is needed for them to get paid.

I do not accept any criticism from them, most of all from those who don't know how to love the earth, to struggle and dream and who know only to do their jobs, to follow orders. Even more, I do not accept criticism from the People which is nurtured in the rotten womb of the State and bound at any cost with democracy, a word which still has a good narcotic influence.

These people of the law, play with their fascist-democratic laws in order to throw up sentences. In my case, the "participation" in a terrorist group, which is what in fact the State, the army and the multinational companies really are.

Fortress Europe, like other global empires, closes ranks in border control, the management of detention camps, arms race, police control and training of anti-riot forces, like the European Gendarmerie (Eurogenfor); all this with the support of new technologies such as hi-tech cameras that can be found everywhere. One of the most active protagonists in this mayhem is Finmeccanica, which churns out civilian and military technologies for war operations and mass control. And one of its creatures is Ansaldo Nucleare, which is running towards the mad but well planned atomic death.

Men like machines, machines like men.

Drones and droids are already present in civilian and military milieus. More 'human' robots are the goal of scientists; and they already managed to produce artificial nerve connections within the European project 'Human Brain Project', which saw the collaboration between Italian and Swiss universities and IBM, as usual. Humanoid robots with learning abilities that perform human activities, exoskeletons, artificial organs in human bodies, synthetic neurology: these are the aberrant targets reached by scientists in international technological institutes such as M.I.T in Boston and some Italian ones.

Probably human cloning has already been realized, and we can't even imagine what's happening in laboratories; but humanoid robot I-CAB, which will be destined to domestic use, is already very much worrying.

The technological race is financed by hi-tech companies such as Amazon, Apple, Samsung, Sony etc., which unscrupulously feed the market with computers, bio-computers and devices, all useless stuff producing imbecility, good for mass control and statistics, responsible for the polluting extraction of minerals used in the fabrication of circuits; the very circuits that at a later stage and in an absurd consumerist cycle will be dismantled with bare hands and the help of acids in China, Ghana, Vietnam and India; even by children whose little hands are particularly fit for the purposes. Is it worth having smart-phones, tablets, iPhones and other weird devices?

Scientists and engineers don't content themselves with poisoning and manipulating everything on the earth: the colonization of the outer space is already ongoing. NASA, ISEGC and Italian CNR are working on bio/ nanotechnologies for the exploration of the Moon, Mars and asteroids so as to extract there the minerals necessary for hi-tech electronics production. Soon there will be astrominers messing up with the Nature of things, the Sun and the Moon, the natural cycle of life and death, in a race made by a few 'enlightened ones' determined to have the last say on the fate of this Planet and what surrounds it. Technological and scientific civilization has shown, and continues to do so, its ability to produce the worst horrors of toxicity and genetic manipulation, with the help of servants organized by the State, ready to obey their 'bosses'; and the latter never asked permission for imposing their conditions but they only realized them with force and coercion on individuals they considered inferior. This is not difficult to achieve on masses of people crowded in metropolises, fearful even of rain and insects, people intent on one another and cheating one another.

We must be ready for the worst... Now we can discuss if anti-technology resistance is paranoid. But I think that some will share what I believe in and which made me end up in jail, and will decide autonomously how to act. Of course, in the face of these forces one could give in to cowardice, cunning and ignorance of the facts, and pretend nothing is wrong, wait for a divine sign, take refuge in one of the few uncontaminated places and live like hermits. But human nature possesses an animal instinct of conservation and defence of their habitat and the elements that give Life.

After all, one can't sleep quietly in a little room of a big house that is burning down.

Responsibility claim letter by eco-anarchist Gianluca Iacovacci (Italy)

The decisiveness of our struggle and our solidarity are our only “lethal weapons”.

Dear comrades I am imprisoned, like many others, targeted by the oppression of the state, which seeks to annihilate us. Not for what one does, but for what we “risk” to be, to say, to think.

I am riding, along with Adriano and many others, on the judicial roller coaster of the mediated anti-terrorist clique of democracy. First of all, I want to thank all the comrades, who expressed their solidarity, directly or indirectly, even from beyond the borders, as I am convinced that they support us with their very presence within the struggle.

We share the same rage for this grey and miserable existent, which crushes us and for which we feel the same wounds but also the same joy for the wonderful reality of our dreams and our desires. My state is the one of a hostile individual, a captive and a prisoner.

The imprisonment and the discomfort, which I have been subjected to, were premeditatedly invented by other human beings and depend on the lasting of the authority of the system that has been imposed to us.

Surely, I will remain in captivity, but my spirit and my ideas go on, they cannot be restrained by keys nor can they be tame and this can only continue to give me the strength to resist.

With joy and through my full will, I have chosen anarchy and I will continue to do so, loving the earth for what it is in my continuous search for wildness and emancipation of all the comforts, including wealth.

Through anarchy, I can see the wild and primitive pulse, which is now sedated, if not completely dead, by the hands of the civilized human of progress. I have never used intermediate methods and terms, I accept the risk of having to get my food by cultivating and gathering all the necessary things for my survival. In order to do this, I will use all possible means at my disposal in order to convince other
